AMBASSADOR MYRON T. HERRICK CALLED BY DEATH SUNDAY

Solon Sought Since Saturday Appears In Chicago Federal Building

RELEASED ON BOND

Declares Reports That He Smuggled Liquor Into Country Are Unfounded

CHICAGO, April 1.—(UP)—

Congressman M. Alfred Michaelson of Illinois, a fugitive from justice since Saturday morning, when U. S. deputy marshals were sent out to bring him in on a warrant charging violation of the prohibition laws, surrendered at the Chicago federal building to day.

Michaelson was not recognized when he appeared at the office of Assistant District Attorney Eugene A. Tappy.

"I would like to see Mr. Tappy," he said.

"What did you wish to see him about?" asked an assistant in the waiting room.

At that juncture Tappy opened the door of his private office, recognized the congressman and took him inside.

After a few minutes Tappy and Michaelson came out and went into the office of Edwin K. Walker. The United States commissioners who had set the congressman's bond at $2000 pending proceedings to remove him to Jacksonville, Fla., where he was indicted.

"I have nothing to say now," Michaelson told reporters, "although I may have a statement later."

"Was it true that you tried to smuggle liquor into the country at Key West as charged in the indictment?" he was asked.

"That is absolutely unfounded," Michaelson said.

"Where have you been? Why

SPANISH GRANT PROBERS CALL JAMES IRVINE

Senate Committee to Decide Whether Local Man Has Complete Title

WHETHER James Irvine has full title to portions of the great Irvine ranch will be involved in the hearing starting in Los Angeles tomorrow, at 10 a. m., in department 15 of the hall of records, by a subcommittee of the United States senate, on charges of unlawful possession of lands in Southern California under old Spanish grants.

Sen. Gerald P. Nye, of North Dakota, chairman of the committee and its subcommittee, and Sen. Porter H. Dale, of Vermont, reached Los Angeles yesterday, and Sen. Sam G. Bratton, of New Mexico, the third member of the subcommittee, is scheduled to be in Los Angeles tomorrow by the hour the hearing is to open.

It will be recalled here that several attempts have been made to file homestead claims on the Irvine ranch, and it also will be recalled that in every instance the commissioner of lands, the secretary of the interior and the attorney general have given decisions against the claimants. It is said that approximately 800 persons have tried to get homestead claims at $1.25 an acre.

Senator Nye is quoted in Los Angeles as offering the following explanation as to reasons for the hearing:

"Our committee has been importuned for some years to take up the matter of titles to Spanish grant lands in Southern California. Two years ago, before I became chairman, a hearing was held in Washington and an investigation was urged by Judge Summers, attorney for a large number of men and women, who have tried persistently to file for homesteads on these lands.

Put End to Case

The claim has been that frauds were perpetrated in connection with the old grants, and that lands not included actually in the grants are public lands subject to homestead entry.

The committee decided that to put an end to its being bothered

Communication systems in the south and southwest also were reported disrupted.

Torrential rain, high winds and hail were general in the middlewest yesterday and were followed today by more snow and falling temperatures.

A terrific windstorm swept Indianapolis, Ind., last night, leveling trees, small buildings and blowing in windows. Power lines were disrupted. No serious injuries were reported.

Iowa and Illinois suffered from heavy stormy weather which disrupted rail and bus schedules and in several cities cut off communications.

Subway and passages under viaducts in Chicago were flooded by heavy rains. Snow and near-freezing temperature followed today.

TEXAN GETS THREE YEARS FOR KILLING

TYLER, Tex., April 1.—(UP)—

Convicted of murder because he killed the Rev. Fount Wallace, alleged wrecker of his home, Loyd Wilson, garage owner today faced three years in the penitentiary.

A jury, after deliberating 2½ hours, called Judge J. R. Warren from Easter services to announce they had found the garage owner guilty. The state had asked the death penalty and the slayer had pleaded the "unwritten law" in mitigation of the killing.

The verdict, apparently a compromise, brought to an end a trial that bared an illicit romance between Wallace and Mrs. Mae Wilson.

GIRLS ABANDONED

SAN FRANCISCO, April 1.—(UP)—Abandoned by the men who had brought them to this city from Los Angeles, two 16-year-old girls were held at the juvenile detention home today. Blanche Drake and Daisy Emery, both of 618 Hill street, Los Angeles, were taken to the home after they had asked aid of policemen. They said they were induced to leave their home Saturday by two men who drove them here and then forced them from the automobile.

The first government relief plane, piloted by Lieutenant Woods, reached Fitzroy Crossing, 2100 miles northwest of Sydney, today and reported no trace of the Southern Cross could be found.

Australia Fears For Noted Flyer And Companions

SYDNEY, N. S. W., April 1.—(UP)—Officials and the populace in general entertained grave fears today for the safety of Capt. Charles E. Kingford-Smith and his companions in the airplane Southern Cross, forced down in one of the wildest sections of Australia, while attempting a non-stop flight from Sydney to Wyndham.

The first government relief plane, piloted by Lieutenant Woods, reached Fitzroy Crossing, 2100 miles northwest of Sydney, today and reported no trace of the Southern Cross could be found.

College Youth Sentenced To Life In Prison

ATLANTA, Ga., April 1.—(UP)—George Harsh, 19-year-old former college lad, who had faced the electric chair for the "thrill holdup" slaying of Willard Smith, a drug clerk, had his sentence changed to life imprisonment today in a consent verdict, after a new trial had been granted him.

At the same time, Richard Gray Gallogly, alleged accomplice of Harsh, pleaded guilty to the same murder and was sentenced to life.

EASTER SUNDAY IS MARRED BY HEAVY STORMS

Tornadoes, Hail and Snow In Midwest Result In Injury to Twenty

CHICAGO, April 1.—(UP)—

Easter antics of the weather, varying from tornadoes in Missouri to hail and snow in

wide area of property damage and disrupted communications in the midwest today.

Meager reports indicated at least 20 persons were injured in a tornado which swept Poplar Bluff, Marblehill and Mineral Point, Missouri. Three others were injured in a windstorm which caused considerable property damage in Kansas City.

One of the most impressive features was the reading of Henry Van Dyke's well-known poem, "God of the Open Air," with which the Rev. O. Scott McFarland prefaced his brief talk, which he called "At Break of Day."

Speaking in meditative manner, the Rev. Mr. McFarland said in part,

"Our committee has been importuned for some years to take up the matter of titles to Spanish grant lands in Southern California. WORSHIPPERS ASSEMBLE ON MARCY HEIGHTS

Annual Sunrise Services Are Conducted By Presbyterian Church

GREETED with an impressive service that will remain as a beautiful memory to all who witnessed it, the Easter sun, rising yesterday morning over the misted hills of the Santa Ana range, found a large and reverent group of Santa Anans assembled on Marcy Heights for the annual sunrise services, which this year, were conducted by the First Presbyterian church.

Sunrise was at 5:45 o'clock, and the first golden rays were welcomed by the equally golden notes of a trumpet solo, "Open the Gates of the Temple," played by Edgar Thomas, son of Judge and Mrs. William H. Thomas, 425 West First street. The triumphant meaning of the season seemed embodied in the anthem, "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name," in which the entire assemblage then joined. Special musical numbers were also on the Easter theme, and were rendered by a mixed quartet, Miss Marie Osborn, Miss Evelyn Springmeyer, E. D. Miller and Jasper N. Osborn.

One of the most impressive features was the reading of Henry Van Dyke's well-known poem, "God of the Open Air," with which the Rev. O. Scott McFarland prefaced his brief talk, which he called "At Break of Day."

Speaking in meditative manner, the Rev. Mr. McFarland said in part, about this matter it would hold a hearing and clear the matter up finally. We believe that owners of these lands are entitled to have all questions as to legality of title settled. They must have suffered some annoyance and possibly loss through the rumors of clouds on their titles caused by this situation.

"Charges have been made that federal officials have been influenced, even corrupted, by wealthy owners of the lands in dispute, and that demands for investigation have been blocked. We hope that such charges will be made more specific this time, more definite form given to what have been general and unsupported assertions, or else abandoned. We shall go into that matter."

"Inquiry will be made into relations between the attorneys and the clients who have sought to file on these lands. We want to make a clean sweep of the whole subject."

Break of Day, something happened. They came to the tomb and found it empty; from the angelic messenger they heard this word, 'He is not here; He is risen.'

"The effect of what happened at break of day on that first Easter morn," the Rev. Mr. McFarland continued, "was magical upon the disciples. Faith and hope were renewed in freshness and certainty. Transformed into mighty men, they went out to turn the world upside down and to lay foundations for a new world. That faith, thus born in the hearts of a few people, has come down through the centuries, scattering darkness with its light and radiating into all the world a religious faith, an ethical spirit, a hope of final redemption. It shines out today as the Light of the World, touching our whole civilization and gilding the farthest shores of earth. That break of day was a sunburst that is shining more and more unto the perfect day."

STATE PARK HEADS SEE H. B. PROPERTY

HUNTINGTON BEACH, April 1.—California state park commissioners inspected the Huntington Beach-Newport state park site this week. The land proposed for the park includes a strip of beach beginning at the Huntington Beach pier and extending toward Newport Beach. The location offers many facilities including an abundance of good water, a long sloping beach, nearness to large population centers, suitable climate, excellent transportation to all points and still water lagoons suitable for water sports.

Commissioners and associates present were Henry O'Melveny, Col. W. B. Wing, Frederick Olmsted, A. Drury, Mayor Frederick R. Burnham, William B. Kelly and Mrs. Laura E. Gregory.

He Must Be Spirit Of Eddie Foy

BODY WILL BE RETURNED TO UNITED STATES FOR BURIAL AFTER SERVICES IN FRANCE

A man claiming at the time of his arrest to be Eddie Foy, the famous actor, was taken into custody by State Traffic Officers Stinson and Craig, on the Coast highway, near Huntington Beach, Saturday night for identification. When booked at the jail he gave his name as Henry Sprinkle, of 5747 1/2 Virginia avenue, Hollywood. Sprinkle is 21 years old and gave his occupation as juvenile for the Fox Film company.

Despite his cold, the ambassador played a round of golf Friday with Col. T. Bentley Mott. Herrick commented at that time on his own poor health, saying:

"I'll either have to give up work or golf soon."

He was visited by his physician, Dr. Henri Rabreau, Saturday evening. Dr. Ferreyrelles, a personal friend of the ambassador, accompanied the physician and they left him apparently so much improved that his robust condition was expected to pull him through the attack.

He suffered a sudden relapse Sunday.

Mrs. Herrick remained constantly at the bedside until the ambassador died at 5 p. m.

Many incidents which built up the country's great love for Herrick were recalled by friends.

His great skill in managing the receptions for Lindbergh here after the aviator's flight from New York to Paris, including the fact that he waved a French flag beside the American flag at Le Bourget field upon Lindbergh's arrival—endeared him to the people of France.

War Time Hero
It was during the war however that France placed Myron T. Herrick securely in his high position here. Two war time features were recalled by the press—gestures which the ambassador wrote into history.

First, he remained in Paris when the government fled to Bourdeaux, in September, 1914, when the German armies were pounding the gates of the capital. Herrick had printed posters in which he said the Louvre and other historic treasures and art museums of Paris would be placed under the protection of the American flag. But the battle of the Marne avoided the necessity of posting the announcements.

Second, Herrick deposited several hundred thousand dollars on the Paris Bourse during the time of greatest depression on the franc—August, 1926—and his gesture of confidence in France had an immediate effect in checking the fall of the currency. Herrick used the funds voted by congress for purchase of an embassy site.

Edmund H. Hillishiem, who flew with the German air forces during the World war and won the designation of ace for his activities, learned that a California highway is not the place for display of speed Saturday morning when he was booked by State Traffic Officer Stinson for speeding on the Coast highway, between Newport Beach and Laguna Beach. Hillishiem, who lives at 418 North Oakhurst drive, Beverly Hills, is a chauffeur for A. Osgood Martin. The case will come up for trial in the court of Justice Kenneth Morrison on next Friday.

A car driven by Robert A. Quall of 834 Riverine street, was in a collision with a small sedan on Sixth street between Main and Sycamore streets shortly after noon Sunday. Little damage was done and no one was hurt.

The occupants of cars driven by F. C. Muchlsted of 1625 Freeman avenue, Long Beach, and Charles Mason, 308 Waverly, Orange, were shaken up when the cars came together on the road four miles north of Irvine park Sunday night. The cars were slightly damaged but no one suffered serious injury.

Gen. Juan Almazan had moved forward almost a mile by 6:30 a. m. and the battle was in full swing, Cales said. By 9:50 a. m. the entire area was battleswept, with the Federals concentrating fire on the flanks and center of the Rebels' position.

DIET STOPS DIVORCE

BALTIMORE, April 1.—More lime in the diet will stop divorces, according to Dr. George Walker. A slice of lime in the diet makes women nervous and men cruel, causing family difficulties, he says.

A pint of milk every day for two weeks and two oranges, eaten by a wife and husband threatened by divorce, will straighten matters out.

FIVE INJURED IN ACCIDENTS OVER WEEKEND

PARIS, April 1.—A short time ago a French wife drowned herself and two children. She left a note for her husband saying, "You know where I am taking our darlings. Come and find us if you like." Several days later the husband was found, shot through the head, on the grave of his wife and children.

APRIL FOOL'S DAY, WATCH YOUR STEP

April fool! April fool!

Who is there who has not heard that cry shouted time and again when the gullible mind falls for some trick on April fool's day?

This day of fun and pranks, the first day of April, is being celebrated in Santa Ana today by children of all ages, from the little tots up to grey haired grandparents. Every sort of caper and ruse is resorted to in an effort to pique fun at the unsuspecting victim.

A pocketbook stuffed with paper is still a favorite trick. The wallet on the sidewalk is sure to catch some unwary person much to the hilarity of the children. Another modern contrivance is a brick or piece of wood wrapped in paper and left in the road for someone to stop and pick up.

April fool's day will be observed here on April 10 to discuss and complete plans for the third degree in progress. The first degree was conferred on a number of candidates by the

TWO ATTEMPTS MADE TO ENTER S. A. RESIDENCE

Easter seemed to bring some relief to the Santa Ana police department, for there was an unusually light Monday morning report.

Police officers investigated a report by Mrs. Olivari, of 920 West Walnut, that there had been two attempts made Sunday to enter her home. She reported one attempt made at 3 o'clock Sunday morning and evidence of the second while away from home during the evening.

Only four persons were picked up on a charge of being drunk. The offenders were Raymond Macios, 30, of 418 North Philadelphia, Anaheim, employed by the U. S. Industrial alcohol plant; Bernard Dempsey, 38, post office clerk who lives at the Terminal hotel; Ernest Gracian, 30, a resident of Tustin, and Max Kelly, 24, who lives at 706 West Fourth street. Macios was picked up at First and Main streets at 10:10 p.m. Sunday by Officers Foster and Roehm after his car had collided with another machine. His case will come up before Judge Talbott in city court.

Officers Flower and Swain accounted for the others, taking Dempsey into custody at First and Bristol streets at 1:15 p.m. Monday, and Gracian said he is a laborer, and Kelly, a truck driver, at 8:30 p.m. Sunday, at the corner of First and Grand. Gracian broke a bottle supposed to contain liquor in the car he was occupying with Kelly at the time of the arrest.

Officer H. E. Holmes arrested Norman Lemon Sunday on warrant from Newport Beach, charging failure to appear on a speeding charge. Lemon, who lives at 1038 West Bishop street, is a truck driver. He was lodged in jail following his failure to make bail in the amount of $20.

Nick V. D. Brock, of 706 Eastwood, reported to police authorities that a .22 caliber Remington automatic pistol was stolen from a cupboard in the foundry of the Brock Glass factory, 120 Santa Fe street, yesterday.

Two local boys, who were arrested in National City early Saturday morning on a speeding charge, were returned to Santa Ana late Saturday together with the car in which they were driving at the time of their arrest and which is alleged to have been stolen here on the night of March 29. Officers Lutz and Hershey made the trip and have turned the youthful offenders over to the juvenile authorities. The boys, whose ages are 14 and 15, are being held in the juvenile home.

Orange police authorities have reported to the local police that a car had been abandoned on a bridge there. A bottle of whisky was found in the car, but there were no identification records.

BIBLE CLASS HOLDS SPECIAL PROGRAM

A special Easter program was featured at the weekly meeting of the Men's Community Bible class, yesterday, in the West Coast theater. The class convenes each Sunday morning, with the Rev. Walter Scott Buchanan as teacher.

E. H. Elsner, musical director, led in community singing and had prepared an entertaining selection of musical numbers. E. A. Cox conducted the prayer service.

The Rev. Mr. Buchanan gave the lesson talk of the morning, using as his subject the "Resurrection of Christ."

C. E. Sheldon, an accomplished musician and cornetist with the Brigham orchestra, was soloist in a special musical number. He played "The Palms" and was accompanied by Mrs. R. S. Briggs at the piano, R. S. Briggs, flute, and J. E. Ingman, violin. The service was closed with a vocal soprano solo by Mrs. E. H. Elsner with the same instrumental accompaniment.

HIGH SCHOOL'S LEADING ACTORS IN MOVIE PLAY $1000 CONTEST

The Orange county district, one of the eight districts of the Southern Counties Gas company, defeated all competitors in a 1928 contest for conservation of gas by stopping and preventing of leakage from lines of the company.

It was revealed here today by C. E. Rutledge, district manager. The district won $1000 in cash prizes, the manager disclosed. The manager explained that the company on January 1 instituted a contest among districts by offering a

C. E. Rutledge prize of $500 to the district showing the greatest volume of conserved gas and a similar amount for the district showing the smallest loss by leakage per mile of line.

Pointing out that the company has 468 miles of line in Orange county, the district manager said that the company operators here conserved a volume of 101,000,000 cubic feet of fuel by maintaining a careful watch for leaks and correction of the condition whenever discovered. It was declared that the contest was successful in arousing in all districts a keen interest in discovery of sources of leakage.

The district also showed the smallest loss per mile of line and won the prize in this competition. Rutledge said that the prize money had been divided $500 to the Orange County Efficiency club, composed of employees of the company, and $500 to the men who were more or less responsible for records causing award of other prizes to this district. The individuals to whom the $500 was distributed, and the amount each received, are as follows:

Ronald Merrick, $20; Ora Leonard, $8; Frank Lee, $8; W. C. Osborne, $5; Artie Hayes, $7; J. W. Harper, $7; Ethel Parks, $25; Oscar Carothers, $15; Ted Truman, $15; Harry Epperly, $18; E. L. Peacock, $25; Fred Epperly, $25; William Umland, $25; William Cummings, $25; J. J. Wagers, $25; Al Dyckman, $25; H. J. Finnegan, $25; R. G. Miller, $25; Edgar Wilde, $25; Frank Swayne, $15; Josephine Lopez, $10; Lois Dunham, $10; Beulah Andresson, $10; Ed Hawkins, $25; F. H. Truman, $12.50; John Cain, $12.50; Paul Musch, $10; W. A. Willmurt, $7.50; Dan O'Steen, $7.50; R. M. Crawford, $5; L. D. Bailey, $5.

Court Notes

Following stipulations by attorneys on each side, Lester Isbell was ordered yesterday by the superior court to pay $70 a month to Grace L. Isbell, pending trial of a divorce suit filed by the wife. Mrs. Isbell is represented by W. F. Menton, Santa Ana attorney, and her husband by Roland Thompson, Santa Ana.

Bonnie Dale Sweet today had brought suit for divorce against Willard Sweet. The complaint asserted that he had paid the rent on houses where they lived only once since they were married. Mrs. Sweet said she often had been forced to depend on the kindness of friends or relatives for food. They were married in Brea, in 1925, and separated March 4, 1929, the complaint said.

Henry E. Larson today brought suit against W. T. Lambert, seeking judgment for $1300. The complaint stated that Lambert had given Larson a promissory note for that amount in May, 1927, and that it had not been paid.

Cora E. Joselyn was made defendant in a lawsuit, today, in which the Holly Sugar corporation is seeking judgment for $1906.79. According to the complaint, this amount represents a promissory note made in April, 1925. The note has not been paid, the complaint stated.

Florsheim Shoes—For the Man Who Cares

$5 Works More Magic Than Used to Come Out of a Silk Hat

It happened in the chambers of Judge Homer G. Ames this morning just before court opened.

"Bat" Smith, clerk of the court, approached Judge Ames "Judge," he is reported to have said, "all great men are assassinated" And before the judge could finish his protest that he was not yet great enough for that attention, "Bat" leveled a watch charm pistol at His Honor and fired.

Edward Connor, who plays the hero, "Jack Roberts," is also a seasoned actor at the high school, and gains new laurels by his performance in "College Daze."

Agnes McKinstry, who was in the 1928 senior class play, "White Collars," is cast in one of the principal roles in the film. She plays "Clara Burns," a college slapper.

Paul Hendrickson, who appears as the heroine's brother, "Reggie Drake," in "College Daze," is one of the biggest hits in the picture, according to comments made by critics who have viewed special showings of the film.

A large cast of minor characters support the leading characters.

SMART GUY, HE IS!

One of the social events of the season at Miami Beach during the activities preceding the Sharkey-Stribling fight was an elaborate party given by Al Capone in his island palace.

The guests were principally newspapermen and a few prominent city officials and a merry time was had by all.

The next morning the scribes were disturbed by a rumor that spread all over the beach that while Capone was extending his hospitality to the boxing writers, someone had rolled him for $75,000 worth of jewels.

Attempts to protect the fair name of journalism the scribes appointed a committee hastily and commissioned it to check up on the rumors.

Capone laughed when the committee waited on him and made known its errand.

"That isn't so, of course," Capone said. "It couldn't have been so. I locked up everything valuable before you birds arrived."

FESS UP, AL!

During the course of the party one of the writers became very chummy with Capone. He backed him into a corner and they had a very friendly chat about old days in Brooklyn when they lived in the same neighborhood.

As an act of friendship Capone gave him the only statement he made about the massacre of the Moran gang in Chicago.

"Red and I used to be on the outs," he said. "But we squared up a long time ago. Anyway I'm out of the racket and I don't know anything about it."

The scribe thought this confidence put him on terms of intimacy with Capone and he dared another brave question.

"Listen, Al," he went on, with his arm around Capone's shoulder. "Tell me something, will you? I won't print it. I'm just curious. How many men have you killed?"

Capone slid out from under the friendly arm and disappeared through the crowded room with a speed that would have made Padlock look like a walker.

ADVERTISING NOT WANTED

There were some places in Miami Beach where you could flirt with the little god chance if you had the inclination—and the dough. There wasn't anything exactly private in the operation of the chance palaces, but the operators didn't yearn for any undue publicity.

Several of the writers played up the gambling side of the enjoyable life at the resort and the club owners began to be concerned. They were afraid that too much publicity in the north might attract more attention—and action—in Washington.

Four or five days before the fight a writer blew into town who had been known in the past to tear the curtains away from stories that were not exactly in his line of duty. The club owners were leary of him and they prepared for a reception when the reporter cashed a big check and asked the door man at the hotel where the nearest wheel was.

When he arrived at the gambling club the sign was given and the word was passed around. It wouldn't do for him to be taken for his role. The word had gone around that he was willing to be taken for a big pile so he could write a story about the suckers and crooked wheels.

HE QUIT TOO SOON

The reporter went to work at one of the tables and won steadily. He wasn't playing high stakes and when the earnings reached $260 he gathered up the chips, cashed them in and left with a big smile.

"That's a nice evening's work," he said. "This will pay the wife's expenses down here."

"We got off easy with that fellow," one of the club attendants said. "He took his $260 winnings and wrote a nice story about it. He didn't know that he could have won $2600 if he had stuck at it. We couldn't let that fellow lose."

Pitcher For Missions Is
Crash Victim

MERCED, Calif., April 1.—The body of Clyde Nance, pitcher for the Mission baseball club of the Pacific Coast league, was to be taken to Fresno today where funeral services will be held.

Nance, one of the most promising of the league's young moundsmen, was killed Sunday afternoon when his automobile skidded and overturned five miles south of here.

Witnesses to the accident said that the ball player was speeding and that he was forced off the highway when he attempted to pass another automobile.

Nance was 21 years of age. He is survived by his widow.

JAPANESE WIN
MOUND BATTLE
FROM FLYERS

After pitching brilliantly for eight innings, "Fuzzy" Page, first string gunner for Roy Head's Westminster Aviators, virtually lost his own meet to the Grand Central market team of Los Angeles at Midway City yesterday when he made a wild throw to second for a force-out.

The misthrown ball enabled Igo-soku, right fielder for the Japanese club, to streak to third from whence he scored on Head's timely single. Igo-soku's run was the winning one in a great 3 to 2 ball game that kept the customers in their seats to the finish.

Fielding of the Oriental flyers featured the match, which otherwise was a splendid pitcher's battle between Page and Yoshida and Herano. The score:

Hurdle Race Sensational

In the high hurdles, Stricklin, Huntington Beach, and Darnay, Anaheim, raced home neck and neck to tie the 164 record set by Delby, of Fullerton. Darnay just clipped Stricklin at the finish. The heave of 47 feet, 10 inches last year by Thomas of Orange, also was bettered by McDonald, Excelsior, who shod the weighty pellet 48 feet, 7 1/2 inches.

Shade Wins Bout

In South America

Buenos Aires, April 1.—Impressed with the boxing ability of Dave Shade, California middleweight, South American ring fans looked forward eagerly today to his next match in this country. Shade defeated K. O. Brissett, Peruvian champion, in a 12-round bout here Saturday night and plans to engage in another bout before returning to the United States.

TROJANS GIVEN EVEN CHANCE TO WIN MEET FROM STANFORD

LOS ANGELES, April 1.—On the basis of their overwhelming defeat of the California Bears, the University of Southern California track and field team has been given an even chance here to defeat Stanford at Stanford next Saturday.

The Trojans had been expected to defeat California but the one-sided score, 96 to 35 came in the nature of a surprise. The Bears were only able to garner three first places, and tie another first place.

It is Stanford's overwhelming superiority in the shot put, discus and javelin that is expected to put the meet in the refrigerator for the Cards. Kentz and Rother are sure to finish one-two in the shot and discus, with Tandy in the discus and Forster in the shot probably taking the third places to give the Cards a grand slam in these events. In the javelin another slam looms, as Jesse Mortensen, the lone Trojan hope, has never come close to the marks being hung up this season by Sparling, Kirby and Perelli-Minetti.

After handing Stanford 27 points in these events, the Trojans have just about bowed out of the picture before the meet starts. Were it not for Hector Dyer, the Card sophomore sprinter go down on the books.

CRIPPLED BEAVERS TIED FOR LEAGUE LEAD

Playing inspired baseball, the crippled Portland Beavers today found themselves tied for first place in the Pacific Coast league as a result of their victory over San Francisco in the first series of the season. The Portlanders, getting high class pitching, won five out of the first seven games of the year. Here are some action pictures snapped at the Orange County Fair grounds here when the Beavers were getting into condition. Manager Bill Rodgers takes his club to Sacramento for a series this week.

JIMMIE RIVERS DOWN TO 147
FOR BOUT WITH BILLY CLARK;
MGR. WALKER IS ENTHUSIASTIC

Jimmie Rivers, fighting Fullerton "phenom," is down to 147 pounds and in the best condition of his career for his mixup at the Orange County Athletic club here tomorrow night with Billy Clark, veteran Long Beach welterweight. Jack Walker, Rivers' shrewd manager, today expressed himself as delighted with his pupil's condition and predicted a decisive victory over Clark, perhaps by the knockout route.

This will be Jimmie's firstistic experience since he broke his hand fighting Zenyado Chavez in the first "Battle of the Year" two months ago and today Walker was candidly perturbed about Rivers.

During his enforced absence from the hempen enclosure Rivers put on almost 15 pounds, his weight at one time being approximately 160, and Walker feared the business of taking off all the excess weight might weaken the Fullerton youngster.

Jimmie's recent work in the gymnasium has been so good, however, that Walker now believes the layoff has proved a benefit rather than a detriment. Rivers is faster than ever and hitting straighter and harder, Walker averred.

The Rivers-Clark affray will be one of the two matches headlining the O. C. A. C. show Tuesday and is regarded as a "warm-up" for his battle next week with Chavez, who is to face his old "goat," Johnny Nandez, in the windup.

The Chavez-Nandez and Rivers-Clark bouts, as well as the Wally Frazier-Bud Baker semi-final, will go six rounds. The rest of the regular playing season, the matches were played over the neutral Rio Hondo course, near Downey.

B. V. Curry and J. K. McDonald are the only local team to win although all contests were close and interesting.

Santa Ana's season was completed with the losing match against Long Beach.

Tod Morgan's Leg
O.K.; Trains Again

LOS ANGELES, April 1.—With the ball on his leg almost healed, Tod Morgan, junior lightweight champion, resumed full training today and expected to be in fine condition for his title bout with Santiago Zorilla here Thursday night.

The two-day postponement has been effective in aiding the box office and officials of the Olympic auditorium expect a sellout.

Zorilla will come into the ring at around 130 pounds. He weighed in yesterday before a group of newspapermen and boxing officials, tipping the scales at 128 1/2.

Favor Sonnenberg
To Throw Stasiak

LOS ANGELES, April 1.—"Tuffy" Griffiths, Sioux City light heavyweight, received the fifth round of his bout against Leo benefit of an illegal rest in the Lomski, Aberdeen (Wash.) "assassin," here Thursday night. Bill Duffy, associate manager of Lomski, said today he would inaugurate a campaign to have Lomski retained as a contender for the light heavyweight title.

Duffy contends that Griffiths discredited himself when he went to his corner and received treatment for an eye while the bout was stopped to lace a new glove on Lomski's hand in the place of one which had burst. It was Duffy's contention that Lomski should have been accorded victory on a technical k.o.

Paddock In New Attack
On Amateur

NEW YORK, April 1.—A new attack on the A. A. U. has been launched by Charlie Paddock, erstwhile "world's fastest human."

Speaking over the radio last night, Paddock said the "removal of certain unprincipled characters hiding beneath the banner of the Amateur Athletic union," together with the modification of the rules of that organization were needed to help amateur athletics in the United States.

"These rules and these characters," Paddock said, "have caused suspicion to be leveled against the A. A. U. from all sides and have brought into being a ridiculous condition of so-called amateurism that is distinctly un-American."

The Hilltoppers clinched the dual meet crown by vanquishing Santa Ana, 66 to 47, on the Poly cinder track last Saturday in a series of competitions loaded with surprises and good performances.

San Diego won the day even without the services of its captain and world's interscholastic pole vaulting champion, Bill Miller, who did not compete because of a slightly sprained ankle. Miller was in suit, ready to vault if his team needed the points, but, with victory assured did not risk competition.

Death of Sprinters

As in other meets this year, Coach "Tex" Oliver's Saints found their dearth of sprinting and discus throwing talent an obstacle too large to overcome with sterling work in other events. San Diego made a clean sweep in the 100 yard dash and the discus and earned 14 out of 18 in the 220 and 440.

Captain Tommy Cone and Carl Schoenberger gave the locals a great start when they finished one-two in the 880 in the commendable time of 2 minutes, 44-5 seconds. Cone's victory was not surprising for he is the class of the Coast league's half-miler but Schoenberger's performance was his best of the year, the tall boy running a smart race and finishing powerfully only four yards behind his captain.

SCRIBES THINK CARDS WILL BE
FOURTH IN N. L.

By GEORGE KIRKSEY

NEW YORK, April 1.—After watching the major league clubs in training for more than a month several veteran baseball correspondents have made observations of the National league pennant race which are interesting just at this time.

The New York Giants and not the Chicago Cubs are the favorites with the writers to win the pennant.

The St. Louis Cardinals, 1928 champions, will drop as low as fourth place in the opinion of three prominent scribes who believe the left side of the infield will keep the Cards down.

GARDNER WINS FIRST LAP OF PYLE'S 'DERBY'

Although the Cincinnati Reds lost, 4 to 3, Johnson held Tris Speaker's club to one hit during the six innings he worked.

DAYTONA, Fla.—Sam Grey and General Crowder, the St. Louis Browns two pitching aces, were in good condition and ready to take their regular turns on the mound.

RADIATING with the Radio Editor

The automobile industry, No longer an infant in the world of business, didn't reach healthy, husky manhood because the representatives of the various makes of cars used every weapon at their command to "knif" their competitors.

More modern days, when the used car became a problem and trade-ins were necessary to sales, did co-operation of dealers become a necessity and the BLUE BOOK of used cars values probably has the greatest instrument in bringing about a condition of fair competition.

The radio industry, still in its infancy, has been struggling to attain its majority in the successful manner of the automobile industry, but the differences of opinions on the parts of the dealers regarding trade-in values have caused quite a bit of strife.

Now, however, comes the announcement that the radio dealers of the west, allied with the Radio Trades Association are to form a BLUE BOOK of used radio values.

And we look to it to solve a problem that has been holding back the sales end of the industry.

The new book, now out, is an accurate guide to the value of merchandise offered for trade-in.

It will enable the dealer to show his prospective customer, in a convincing manner, that he is allowing him all his trade-in is worth.

Prices in the new BLUE BOOK were determined by sending 250 questionnaires to prominent western dealers, with averages proven to be sane and fair to both dealer and customer. Struck from the returns, the book will be kept up to date through monthly correction sheets. To us it looks like the dealers have at last found a "tie that binds" and an instrument that will mean security for all and success for an industry that promises to be the greatest in the world ever has known.

'DID JESUS RISE

The Cross, Tomb
And Resurrection'
Lighthouse Topic

"The Cross, the Tomb and the Resurrection" was given as the theme of the Easter sermon in the Four Square Gospel Lighthouse last night. The Rev. Cecil F. Brown verbally painted a vivid picture of the Christ story, which was illustrated in pageantry within the church.

Approaching his subject through the medium of modern sins and how they have been forgiven by the sacrifice of the cross, the Rev. Mr. Brown told of the seven cries of Jesus while on the cross and how with the last utterance He gave up the ghost. Flashing lights, piano numbers and an illuminated cross all aided in the portrayal of the angry heavens after the crucifixion.

Then, with the continuation of the story, two angels at the tomb rolled away the stone and the minister told of the scene between Mary and her Lord. He later brought the idea of the resurrection of life into present day channels and concluded his remarks by saying:

"Through Resurrection we, ourselves, have life if we take Jesus into our hearts and follow His commands and live for Him."

ODD FELLOWS,
REBEKAHS AT
M. E. SERVICES

With the First Methodist church filled to capacity and many persons turned away at the door, Dr. George A. Warner, pastor, delivered one of the greatest sermons offered the congregation during his ministry here.

Guests at the morning service were the Odd Fellows and Rebekahs. The canton of the Odd Fellows were in uniform and furnished a soldierly color to the Easter setting of flowers banked about the church altars.

Taking as his subject, "Hopes of the Sons of God," Dr. Warner used as his text the verses: "Now are ye the sons of God and it doth yet appear what ye shall be" and "By a hope are ye saved."

"Easter is the statement of a great reality in the prophecy of an eternal hope," Dr. Warner declared. "Easter Sunday morning broke the bonds of the tomb."

"You cannot unfather God," he continued, "by any conduct which you may perform. Jesus came into the world to reconcile not God to man, but to reconcile man to God."

"It is one of the hopes of the sons of God that he shall not have physical resurrection. The resurrection of the human life and the ongoing of personality is prophesied everywhere," said the minister, and asked, "What are those things that we may expect to persist?"

"First, faith, and the greatest faith in the world is found in friendship. Death cannot sever it. Death is simply an experience in an endless career. Christ rose from the dead because there is, inherently in man, the deeds and the genius of eternal life."

"As Jesus placed His life across the centuries," Dr. Warner continued, "and was not confined to time or space, so love is the great supreme binding force of the world and we may expect it to persist. It is the potent power of the love of God and His children that will bind the world together."

"Another thing shall abide and that is truth. Truth is timeless, truth is limitless, truth seems sometimes in our world relative, but truth is eternal—it is inherent in human personality and things inherent abide."

SAYS RECTOR

Easter's Answers To Life Questions'
Is Pastor's Topic

"Easter's Answer to Life's Questions," was the subject of the sermon of the Rev. Perry Frederick Schrock at the 10 o'clock service in the First Congregational church Easter morning.

"Easter answers some of our most perplexing questions," said the Rev. Mr. Schrock. "It answers the question that troubled the Psalmist over 2500 years ago. They continually say unto me," says the Psalmist, "Where is thy God?" A poet of our own day voices the same longing when he says, "The soul cries, 'Give me God! Not aged tales about him.' And Easter answers our longing. It does not prove the existence of God but it affirms it in such a way that our hearts are comforted and our minds sent."

"Easter answers the question of Job, 'If a man die, shall he live again?' A recent writer tells us that all honest and informed friends of religion, in their attempt to reconstruct religion, must give up the idea of immortality. But we cannot give it up. The cry of Robert Loveman is ours.

"Tell me after life
What shall be;
Tell me after strife,
Of death's mystery?
"For weal or for woe,
Beyond the sky,
God, let me know
That I am I."

"Easter tells us that there is no 'after life' to fear for life does not end. Death is no mystery but one of life's greatest experiences."

Easter Breakfast Is Held By Wrycende Maegdenu Club at St. Ann's

The many pretty new spring frocks and bonnets of the group of young girls gathered at St. Ann's Inn yesterday morning for the Easter breakfast of the Wrycende Maegdenu club made the scene an especially attractive one.

In contrast to the bright frocks of the breakfasters were the slender white Easterilles used in decorating the table for the affair that was presided over by Miss Mabel Pruitt, president of the club.

A delightful feature of the affair was the Easter story that was told by Mrs. C. F. Smith, an honored guest who is president of the board of directors of the Y. W. C. A.

Agnes Todd Miller, soprano, sang several lovely Easter songs with Miss Eva Ramsey accompanying at the piano.

Those who enjoyed the breakfast included the Misses Ruth Potter, Lydia Mohr, Vera Morrison, Evelyn Dugdale, Agnes Todd Miller, Boyd Joplin, Eva Turton, Ruth Mills, Genevieve Fisher, Helen Vogt, Mildred Calkins, Marian Smith, Mina Dunn, Ethel Stewart, Amy Smith, Chalma Cleveland, Irene Daniger, Dorothy Beckman, Monta Currie, Margaret Rogers, Henrietta Lykke, Mildred Vieira, Dorothy Dresser, Vena Bell Bryant, Ethel Chase, Louise Bryant, Hattie Bell Wall, Carol Erskin, Pauline Knapp, Jerry Beach, Elsie Wilson, Nellie Mai Chapman, Allen Lair, and Mabel Pruitt, Mrs. C. F. Smith, Mrs. Paul Ragan, Mrs. Charles Woodfill, and Mrs. Samuel Fink.

Miss Bernice Dunn Is Complimented

Mrs. Charles Leimer of this city was hostess Saturday evening at a pretty Easter party held at the Rose Arbor Inn in honor of Miss Bernice Dunn of Glendale, daughter of George Dunn of Santa Ana. Miss Dunn is to marry Paul Brown of Glendale this month.

Following the pretty dinner party, bridge was enjoyed and when scores were added, Mrs. Sarah Brown of Anaheim, who was high, and Miss Edna Green of Glendale, low, received attractive gifts.

JOYOUS NUPTIAL CEREMONIES ADD TO MEANING OF EASTER

Easter with its deep spiritual meaning, its burgeoning of bloom, and its joyous promise of life to the richest and fullest, has been long favored by brides as their choice of a wedding day. And all through the world, happy wives in happy homes, are going to recall Easter Sunday of 1929 as the day which saw the beginning of their true joy in life and companionship.

In Santa Ana there were many glowing brides to tread the flowery path to the altar, and the triumphant chords of Easter music had a softly beautiful obbligato of nuptial harmonies in "The Voice That Breathed O'er Eden," "O Promise Me," and the moving strains of Lohengrin's Bridal Chorus.

THURSTON-FINK

Choosing the beautiful new Community church at Costa Mesa as the setting for their wedding, Miss Dorothy Thurston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Thurston of 303 West Fifth street, and Samuel Fink of this city plighted their troth at one of the prettiest of Easter marriage services.

The University of California at Berkeley, is teaching at the Oceanview school at present.

Mr. Daves also graduated from the Santa Ana high school but later he attended the Oregon State College at Corvallis where he became identified with the Beta Theta Pi fraternity. At present he is a member of the West Coast Walker theater orchestra. Mr. Daves' parents, who are well known in this city, moved to Los Angeles last fall to the regret of their many friends here.

Preceding the ceremony, a delightful wedding breakfast was held at the home of the bride's parents where the brilliant colors of the Easter season were used in table appointments. Mr. and Mrs. Gardner were hosts at the affair.

HILDYARD-TEMPLETON

Return today of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Templeton from an Arizona honeymoon, the charming bride, who wore an ivory satin gown with a lace flounce, and long tulle veil, entered the church upon the arm of her father who later gave her in marriage. She carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley, rosebuds and maiden hair fern.

Miss Mildred Calkins whose bloneness was a charming contrast to the dark haired bride was maid of honor and she wore a becoming frock of blue georgette and carried an arm bouquet of spring flowers.

Miss Margaret Thurston, the bride's sister, and Miss Helen Vogt, in becoming frocks of orchid and apricot taffeta with bouquets of sweet peas, were the bridesmaids. Little Miss Marvel Cogswell, petite daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rex McGill, made a dainty gown in her quaint frock of pink crepe de chine.

Harry Fink, brother of the groom, served as best man and the groomsmen included Wallace Grebe and Robert Hard.

Following the wedding a reception was held at the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. Vada Pankey of 515 North Broadway, which was bright with a profusion of gay spring flowers.

The Easter motif was carried out in the dainty wedding ices and cake that was served by a bevy of pretty young women, friends of the bride, who included Miss Henrietta Lykke, Mrs. Elmer Wilson, Mrs. Glenda Mae Wilson, Mrs. Rex McGill, and Mrs. Madelyn Coulson.

Earlier in the afternoon, the same group assisted in ushering at the wedding.

Mrs. Fink donned an attractive ensemble in tones of orchid and gray with smart hat to match for a brief honeymoon at Palm Springs. On their return, Mr. and Mrs. Fink will make their home at 805 East Fifth street.

The bride is employed at the Orange County Title company and she is planning to continue her work there for several months. She has made her home in Santa Ana for several years, graduating from the Santa Ana Junior college.

She attended the Chaffee Union high school at Ontario before moving to this city.

Her husband is employed at the First National Bank. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Fink of 1333 Grand avenue and he has made his home here for the past eight years.

Mr. Schoopfle is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Schoopfle of Elyria, and has been in California for the past three years. He is with the Standard Oil company. His bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Gardner of East Twentieth street, became the bride of Charles Daves of this city, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Daves of Los Angeles.

The simple service was read by the Rev. W. J. Hatter, pastor of the church.

The vivacious beauty of the bride was enhanced by the becoming rose ensemble with close fitting hat and other accessories in harmonizing colors. She wore a corsage of rosebuds and lilies of the valley and was unadorned.

Following the service, the young couple left immediately for Big Bear Valley for a week's honeymoon. When they return to Santa Ana they will be established in the Biltmore hotel.

Miss Ruth Timmons, 19-year-old school teacher of Richland Township, Ohio, is just one of the girl teachers recently dragged forth on the carpet before an accusing board of education to meet charges that she demoralized her pupils by teaching them the Charleston and other nefarious bits of worldly wisdom.

The board pulled in its horns a little at finding that the dance taught their progeny was not the Charleston, but folk dance steps taught in the young lady's college.

The board was forced to meet, too, parental charges that Miss Timmons

"Failed to come to school on time."

"Failed to maintain proper discipline."

"Neglected to keep proper oversight of her pupils outside the school room."

"Failed to instruct her pupils in such a manner as to enable them to show evidence of reasonable proficiency in the subject studied."

STANDARDS DIFFER

Though Miss Timmons was not removed, it was only by some miracle, for hundreds of young school teachers are actually fired each year because parents whose ignorant and provincial way of living gives them an utterly different set of standards and values than a girl who comes into their community from a college and a larger environment, seem to think that they have the right to demand that the teacher of their young react exactly as they do, or she is all wrong.

Granting that not all school teachers are as efficient as they should be; granting that they are not always superior and less prejudiced than the parents of their communities, the fact remains that, on general principles, I am inclined to favor gossip and criticism of their children's teachers to mean anything whatsoever, in fact, I would favor some neat punishment for parents who carp at their children's teachers, for the bare fact is that 90 per cent of the time the teacher is right and the parents all wrong.

THIS NEW AGE

In the first place, a school teacher is generally much younger than parents; she or he is much more astute, because of youth and educational opportunities, to the modern world of the present—the world which children are meeting, rather than the world which their parents met.

In the second place, parents have the well-developed genius of making teachers responsible for all the things they themselves wish to evade, because they don't know how to handle the situation.

The complaint that Miss Timmons "neglected to keep proper oversight of her pupils outside the school room" is one of the most ridiculous charges ever made. This idea that a teacher who puts in her good eight hours' work should in turn be responsible for her pupils after school hours is as archaic as "The Hoosier Schoolmaster."

Leave it to the Moth Balls

Have you ever watched the subterranean operations of a mole? They are interesting to Young Pup and yourself when Mr. Mole digs himself out right at your feet and Young Pup breaks a few toenails trying to catch up with the mole's get-away!

But the mole's engineering efforts are awfully hard on the lawn. Let me tell you of a way I tried quite successfully....at least enough so that the mole has moved on to other and more peaceful lawns.

Buy a bag of moth balls, use a pointed stick to poke down each hole, drop in a couple of moth balls, cover with dirt and leave the rest to the moth balls and the mole's sense of smell.

I'll admit it sounds ridiculous but it works!

TODAY'S RECIPE

Caramel Ice Cream

3 tablespoons brown sugar
1-2 cup condensed milk
1 cup water
1-2 cup powdered sugar
6 teaspoons flour
Pinch of salt
1 level teaspoon gelatine
2 eggs, well beaten
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup whipping cream.

This recipe is planned for an electric refrigerator but is adapted to other forms of freezing. And right here let me caution you against the use of commercial caramel flavoring. It has its place in cooking but that place is not in ice cream unless you yearn for a funny green concoction.

The preparation starts with making the caramel. Put the sugar into a sauce pan and stir it over a low flame until melted and a nice golden brown, add the milk and water and put back to melt and blend. While this is under way—

Measure and sift together the sugar, flour and salt. Place it in a double boiler and slowly pour over it the caramel liquid, stirring constantly until smooth and thickened.

Have the gelatine softened in a small amount of cold water, add with the well beaten eggs and stir for five minutes. The mixture should be very thick when the eggs are cooked. Remove and strain through a sieve and set away to cool.

If the ice cream is planned for dinner at six-thirty allow four and one-half hours' time for freezing. After the mixture is in the freezing chamber stir every half hour for the first two hours.

Whip the cream stiff, combine with the caramel custard, add the vanilla, a few walnuts cut fine if liked, and start to freeze. This amount will make eight large servings.

2200 calories will be found in this recipe; of this amount an exact half is found in the cream. Needless for me to say that this dessert is a concentrated energy food. For the child or adult who is under-weight nothing is better than such a dessert; it not only builds up weight but supplies the protective element absent in many desserts.

DIETING THE UNDERWEIGHT is the subject of this week's leaflet. Child, adolescent and adult are taken in turn and suggestions given for corrective diets. A stamped, self-addressed envelope brings this valuable leaflet to you free of charge this week.

Tomorrow we are having Pork Chops with Tomato Gravy.

Sugar
useful in diet

Famous food scientist recommends it

THERE are several plain facts that people who are dieting for weight control should remember.

No one under 25 years old should be at all under weight.

Extreme dieting is dangerous to health and may result in permanent injury to the delicate tissue and organs of the body.

Sugar, in dessert, is a useful part of the meal.

Eminent authorities emphasize the dangers of fasting and they should be borne in mind by every person who wishes to remain healthy. One of America's leading food biologists advocates desserts containing sugar. "The value of the sweet," he says, "in addition to giving energy is in furnishing a feeling of satiation that helps relieve empty, unsatisfied feeling."

Starvation is dangerous, and each person should eat regularly a variety of healthful foods, especially cereals, fresh and canned fruits and vegetables sweetened to bring out the delicious flavors. Cereals, fruits and vegetables are wholesome and delicious. The best cooks are generous with sugar. The Sugar Institute.

JOHN GILBERT FILM
HAS DRAMATIC STORY

In a story of grim revenge set amidst the sun-baked fastnesses of the African desert, John Gilbert yesterday attracted hundreds of interested play-goers to the Walker theater, where his latest Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer starring vehicle, "Desert Nights," has its opening.

In a general way, babies are too, but more definitely this designation applies to children over a year old, as co-ordination of brain and muscles becomes more or less established in the first half of his second year, impulses begin to function, and he has a pronounced reaction to his surroundings.

Parents have come to know the importance of the pre-school period in child training, for it is common knowledge now that these years are the most formative years in the human span. The first strokes of the sculptor's chisel are the ones that determine eventually what the completed figure will be. The sculptor attains the general outline first and works from that at his leisure.

That is why we stress the importance of the pre-school child. It is the period of determination. The child's general outline is being chiseled in his first six years. Later, he may be rounded and moulded but the beauty and strength of his character will depend largely on his early handling.

Parents often mistake natural impulse, or nature's way of developing children, for misbehavior. The errors that most parents make are traceable not to deliberate harshness, nor indifference, nor even to the other extreme of over-anxiety, but usually to a lack of knowledge of facts.

I think it is altogether wrong to expect parents to put into practice the excellent new theories of training, without first telling them the facts about a child's own natural impulses and the processes of development during his earliest years also, about the little experiments by which he learns.

It would be foolish to suppose that nature does not supply us with raw material to work on, and it is equally erroneous for us to take it for granted that the only emotions that a little child possesses are a result of his experiences. These social emotions, as we call them, do develop very rapidly later, but nature gives him a good set of feelings of his own to start with.

A parent should have a working knowledge of this equipment and of the age at which certain traits develop. The pre-school period is divided. The child from one to three claims our first attention.

STORY & HAL COCHRAN — PICTURES BY KNICK

U. S. PAT. OFF.

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The man within the tub, up high still floated round beneath the sky. The Tinies stood and watched him. He had pulled a clever trick. With not a single shout, nor word, he'd lowered quite a great big bird. "I'd like to meet him," Scouty cried. "I think he's pretty slick."

Just then the bird began to fly, first up, then down, and me, oh my, he pulled the funny tub man through the air at rapid pace. But Mister Tub Man hung on tight, and shouted. "He'll soon lose his grip. I'll keep my grip upon this rope till the face."

"Ah, that's the spirit," Cowny cried. "Although you get a dizzy ride, don't let that big bird scare you. Jerk the rope until he quits. With rope he shortly will be bound if you will bring him to the ground. He's mad 'cause you have lassoed him. That's why he's throwing fits."

The man up in the tub looked down. A smile, real soon, replaced a friendly! "Well, I'm mighty glad," said he. "This bird may fight for all he's worth, but I'll soon bring him down to earth. I'll very shortly show him that he can't play tricks on me."

Then down they came, real sure, but slow. The Tub Man laughed. "Ha, ha, ha, ho; I am the master of this bird." And then he eyed the bunch of Tinymites who stood nearby. Real shortly they all heard him cry: "Come on and hold this Goofy-goo. We'll cook him up for lunch."

Before the Tinymites could come, the bird proved he was far from dumb. He rushed up to the Tub Man and exclaimed, "You don't suppose I'm going to let you eat poor me. Oh, such a thing can never be." And suddenly he jumped and hit the Tub Man on the nose.

and eternal questions. I believe in the life everlasting because I believe in the infinite and eternal worth of man. Man was made in God's image, a living soul with an eternal spirit. I further base my confidence in life everlasting upon my faith in the integrity of my Father, God. Jesus Christ brought life and immortality to light, not so much by what He taught as, by what He did. The triumphant word of Easter is this: 'He shewed Himself alive. Because He lives I too shall live.'

According to Paul the physical resurrection of Jesus is the chief corner stone of our faith. Not only all this Easter program of mountain peak worship, songs and ceremonies vain, but our preaching is vain and our religion and faith is vain," declared the minister.

"Some have denied the physical resurrection of Christ, saying, He never really died, arguing the swoon theory, but Pilate marvelled that He died so soon, and it was not necessary to break his bones to hasten His death, and to test the certainty of His death His side was pierced.

Others would deny His physical resurrection, saying, He returned only in spirit. Jesus invited Thomas to put his fingers in His hand and thrust his hand in His side. And as a further proof, He took bread and fish and ate in their presence, and said "a spirit flesh?"

"Again others argue the insanity theory. That His disciples visualized this, that they so believed it that they thought they had seen the risen Lord. But let us remember that they, too, were doubtful and being dull of understanding the Scriptures, were hard to convince.

"That He arose from the tomb was witnessed by women who came early to the tomb, then by His disciples, then above 500 brethren. Later by Paul himself. If these cannot be relied upon, then history on any line is worthless.

"Thank God our faith is not vain. Christ hath risen and become the first fruits of them that slept. And because He lives, we shall live also."

A CHALLENGING INSTITUTION

The Y. M. C. A. has been passing through a special week for the increase of members. It appears, however, extends during every week of the year, and very day of the week. Outside of the church organizations, there is no institution in the city whose appeal for membership and sustaining power come with as great force to the thinking man, in our judgment, as does the Y. M. C. A.

The Y. M. C. A. stands for an ideal. And ideals do count, even in this utilitarian age. The ideal is one of Christian manhood. It contemplates a trained mind, in a strong, well-developed body, directed by a Christian motive of life. And the Y. M. C. A. program of character development has produced results here in Santa Ana, as in other communities.

When you read that the Y. M. C. A. is a great, world-circling movement, with more than two million members, you are likely to picture a highly developed, smoothly running organization that is capable of carrying on its program of service without much assistance. But this is not true.

What makes the Y. M. C. A. a powerful and effective organization for good is the fact that its work of service to men and boys is made possible by the unselfish investment of time, service, and money which thousands of men and boys are making in carrying on this work.

There are 89,000 volunteer workers in the United States and Canada alone. And there are uncounted thousands more who give their money, even when they are unable to give active service, and the program of character building may be made effective for the boys and young men of America.

The possibilities for service present a challenge that has a real appeal for any man who desires to make his life count in unselfish service for others.

In Santa Ana, there are many men who are giving generously of their time in leadership. There are others who are giving money to help carry on. And there are others—wise ones—who are giving time and service and money, and who are at the same time taking advantage for themselves of the privileges offered by the finest men's building in Orange county.

There are many such, but not enough. There are men in the community who actually need the health-building program of the Physical Department of our Association. There are others who need the outlet of their energies in service to be done. And there are large numbers who need to put the Y. M. C. A. on their list of organization memberships, merely as a matter of giving financial aid and support.

The Y. M. C. A. invites men to become members, and users of the privileges. It also invites men who desire no other privilege to share in the greatest privilege of all, that of supporting and encouraging the work for others.

Every right-thinking man in this community welcomes the opportunity to become a member of such an organization. All men are glad to be connected with it. And most men would profit by using the privileges offered in its splendid building.

Mr. Coolidge hasn't such an easy life of it after all. First he had Congress to contend with, and now—editors.

MYRON T. HERRICK

Myron T. Herrick, our ambassador to France, has passed away. He had passed the age of three score and ten, the allotted age of man. Yet, while he would not be considered in the prime of health, he was certainly able to carry on, and had marched with the other mourners for several hours in the funeral group honoring Marshal Foch, and then sat in Notre Dame Cathedral throughout the long funeral service.

Mr. Herrick was a man of attractive and interesting personality. He had made his way from rather humble environment in a small village of Ohio to the point where he was recognized among the select and notables of the world.

Mr. Herrick's primary success was in business. With a fair education and good health he threw himself, with energy and ability, into the business world, and finally as head of the Society of Savings, a large banking institution, he became an outstanding business man of Cleveland and of the state of Ohio. He was a close and intimate friend of Mark Hanna, with whose aid he became governor of the state.

Mr. Herrick was almost an ideal ambassador in France; a loyal American, knowing her institutions and loving them. He took the French people as his very own, taking them to his heart in an unusually kind and personal manner.

He is one of the few men who have combined in their own gracious personality the elements of a statesman, manufacturer, business man, financier, and diplomat. The secret of his success lay in a fine endowment by nature with health, ability, geniality, and energy which kept him ever busy.

He will be missed and mourned by the two nations, France and America, and particularly by hundreds of thousands of his friends throughout Ohio.

GOVERNING OKLAHOMA

Oklahoma has ousted its second governor in six years, and people in adjacent states must be beginning to wonder just what there is about the atmosphere of Oklahoma's state capitol building that makes it so hard for a governor to stay in it.

Johnson follows Walton into retirement, after an impeachment trial that was, to say the least, hardly edifying. One cannot help thinking that if the Oklahoma voters were to demand a little more plain speaking during the campaign they could discover the character and qualifications of a candidate earlier and save themselves considerable trouble.

However, there is this to remember; other states than Oklahoma have had highly incompetent governors, and have put up with them. Oklahoma at least does not hesitate in getting rid of hers when she finds them out.

A REMARKABLE EASTER

Yesterday, as Easter Sunday, was an unusual one. In fact, the most unusual of any Easter time for nearly three and one-half centuries. It is the one Easter time that was celebrated by all sections of Christians and Jews unitedly. It includes the Jews with their Jewish Passover, and the Orthodox Church which decided to advance their Easter date, bringing it to the Georgian Calendar's Easter Sunday. This heals the breach that was made in 1582 when the Orthodox churches broke from the rest and refused to omit the Georgian 10 days for the Leap Years caused by Julius Caesar's faulty reckoning on the year's length.

It was a remarkably colorful day in Southern California. Interesting and spectacular morning meetings were held throughout our Southland. Several sunrise services like the Presbyterian group on Marcy's Heights with larger gatherings in various places like 45,000 at the Hollywood Bowl, 30,000 at the Coliseum, and many other places gathered again to hail the risen Saviour, and to bear tribute to the lowly preacher of Galilee who promised immortality, and who himself became the first fruits of that promise by his own resurrection.

Most people love to worship and have something corresponding to a shrine to which they may resort as a visible sign of reverence and adoration. What is better than the calling together of these hundreds of thousands of worshippers of Jesus the Christ at the traditional hour when He Himself rose from the dead in the most beautiful and impressive spots in all this most glorious land. There, as the sun rises over the mountains and darkness is dispelled, to join in the peans of praise and adoration.

If Jesus had done nothing else but implant or review in the hearts of men that wonderful hope of immortality he certainly would not have lived and taught in vain. The fact that before one of these largest throngs a layman of the Roman Catholic church was chosen to deliver the message of hope and inspiration while ministers of Protestant denominations took other parts in the service bears evidence of the unifying power of Christ's teaching, and the fact that we are a Christian people.

The president of the American Beet Sugar Association denounced as "sinister" the overture of the Cuban government seeking free admission of a certain amount of Cuban sugar. The beet sugar people, it seems, are raising Cain.

WEATHER! WEATHER!

It was Mark Twain who said that everybody talks about the weather, but nobody does anything about it. Surely somebody ought to be doing something about it. With the thermometer running in March in Kentucky up to 89 degrees, and in Wyoming down to nearly zero on the same day, with cities in Colorado buried under snow, and half the states of the south buried under water as a result of heavy rains, the newspaper are telling us a lot about the weather.

Yet, what are we going to do about it? This is a big country, running pretty far north and pretty far south, and we must expect a good deal of weather. It is one of the things in which we excel in mass production. Yet why complain if it be true that there is no such thing as bad weather, but only different kinds of good weather? We have noticed that just about the time everybody gets discouraged about the weather a change comes, and they forget all about it. Then they conclude that after all this is a pretty good world in which to live, and they would rather live in their particular locality than in any other part of the world. We are hard to please, and then again we are quite easy to please.

Co-operation Tested In Farm Aid

The Senate Agriculture committee has begun work on a farm relief measure. This is the preparation for the early session of Congress called by President Hoover to convene April 15. Mr. Hoover is earnestly resolved to find a legislative formula that really will give relief to the American farmer without putting the national government into business. The task is Herculean. It is not just one problem—it is a combination and a complication of problems. It is a problem as broad as the Nation and as varied as the climate, the soil and the nature of production of all the states and sections. It must meet the needs of the grower of cotton, as well as the grower of wheat; the grower of chickens, as well as the grower of cattle and hogs.

In this complex situation, with its many diverting angles and interests, the farm interests of America owe a duty to the President, to Congress, to the country and to themselves to undertake to eliminate petty jealousies and grasping greed and to enter into the spirit of conciliation and accommodation whereby the President and Congress may be enabled to work out legislative relief that actually will relieve, and yet keep the national government in its natural and logical sphere of functioning.

In Oklahoma

Imperial Valley Press

Shortly after it had removed from office its second governor to be impeached in six years, Oklahoma proceeded to get busy and consider impeachment charges against three justices of its supreme court.

Casual observers may think that this means there is something wrong with Oklahoma. The record is not especially savory, and a good Oklahoman can hardly take a great deal of pride in it.

There is this to remember, however. Oklahoma is not the only state that has had the ill luck to get incompetent men, or worse, into high state offices. But Oklahoma at least isn't afraid to air its dirty linen when it finds it out. It doesn't hesitate to throw out such an official when it can stand him no longer.

And that is a distinction that not every other state can claim.

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

THE ILLUSIONS OF HOPE

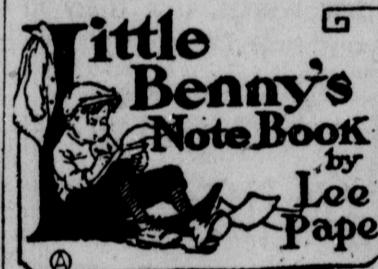

When March has noisily departed
And April's tears begin to flow
Once more, elate and happy hearted
I plant my garden, row on row.
With spade and hoe I heap and hollow
The earth about the tiny beds
Where, in the weeks that are to follow
The growing things will show their heads.

Each day I call my next door neighbor,
Who has no garden of his own,
To come and watch me at my labor
And see how expert I have grown.
He always seems a bit unheeding
Indifference gleams in his eye,
But I continue with my seeding;
I'll show the fellow, by and by!

Though I admit, for some odd reason
While I have dug and tilled the soil
Each year through season after season
In vain has always been my toil.
My effort has not been requited
The weather's been too dry—or wet
My seedlings have been burned or blighted
I've never raised a garden yet.

Yet every Spring, my faith renewing
And fresh hope stirring in my breast
I'm found in my back yard pursuing
The avocation I love best.
"This year," I say, "I'll tend and nourish
And rear at least one single plant
And proudly watch it wax and flourish."
I hope I shall, but I know I shan't!

Pop was smoking and thinking and ma was looking at the funny page without laughing and I was wishing I didn't have to do my homework, and I sed, G, pop, G, ma, I saw the sweetest punching bag hanging up in the hardware store window today for 6 dollars reduce from 9.

It must be a charming site, lets hope it stays there for a long long time to gratify the public's love of beauty, pop sed. Besides that's the proper place for a punching bag. With the nations starting to agree on disarmament and all that sort of thing, it would look pretty shabby for us common citizens to begin taking such warlike instruments into our homes,
I sed.

Meenting he wasnt thinking of getting me any such a thing as a 6 dollar punching bag no matter how much it was reduce from, and ma sed. My Goodness I declare the children nowadays mention 6 dollars in the same breath they would mention 6 cents.

When I was a youngster his size, 6 dollars looked like the Woolworth Building to me, pop sed, and I sed, Well anyways, I tell you what was rite next to the punching bag, a big league base ball for only 20 cents, thats what.

When I was your age I use to make by own baseballs out of rags and string, and if I ever had 20 cents all at one time Id sat up all nite and watched it, pop sed, and ma sed, Lands, yes, 20 cents would of seemed like a private income to me in those days, but nowadays its 20 cents for this and 20 cents for that and 20 cents for rite and till the pices gets dizzy.

Well G, ma, gosh, I may ask a lot, but heck, holey smokes, I would ever get it, I sed and ma
sed. That duzzent matter, the principal is the same.

Well holey smokes, I cant buy anything with a principal, I sed, and pop sed, By gollies that rite,
it would be quite a good argu ment in a court of law. I may even go so far as to say that you almost won your case, would a nickel look at all large to you?

Yes sir, I sed, and pop gave me one and it looked pritty large.

Friendly Talk

APRIL FOOL

The custom of practical jokes, to which the first of April is dedicated, is one of the most primitive and childlike of the race. Children are naturally cruel and have to be taught kindness and consideration by their elders, as a rule.

Nothing so amuses childlike people as to see a man fall down or get bashed in the head or otherwise come to grief.

Charlie Chaplin owed his early vogue to what is called slapstick comedy. People threw pies at one another, a man sat down on a chair that wasn't there, or he fell into a pool of water and came up covered with mud.

To a child all this is screamingly funny, but it does not amuse the adult minded quite so much.

It is interesting to note the character of public amusements nowadays and to compare them with the amusements of former times.

Thousands used to gather in the arenas of Rome and watch gladiators hew each other or fight like wild beasts. They sometimes got entertainment from beholding helpless victims devoured by lions.

The favorite sport in the days of King Arthur was the joust, where two gentlemen fought with lances and swords until one of them was killed.

Immense crowds used to take no end of satisfaction in watching a poor wretch accused of witchcraft burnt at the stake, or admiring the spectacle of a woman dragged at the tail of a cart, or witnessing a hanging, or throwing stones at someone fastened in a pillory, or bear-baiting, or cock fighting. About the only sort of this kind of amusement that survives is the prize fight. People still gather to see two huskies labor each other until one is knocked unconscious.

But as a rule modern entertainments are of a different order. Millions of people attend the movies, they go to theatres and concerts, baseball matches and golf tournaments.

The race may not be any better, but it is more grown up.

April first lingers to give opportunities for all of us to play at the man who kicks the hat with the brick under it, or tries to pick up a purse that is suddenly jerked by a string out of his grasp.

To the adult minded all this is funny, perhaps, but, as Mark Twain says, "it isn't darn funny."

Some of us are amused at seeing a man stumble and fall, or having him bite into a cake of soap, but most of us are rather unpleasantly affected.
